Firesongs

Author: Dinesh Chandra Chattopadhyay

Translator: Somrita Urni Ganguly

- In the style of George R R Martin and J R R Tolkien
- English translation of the Bengali bestselling novel, Duronto Eegawl
- Coming-of-age novel in the backdrop of Russian Revolution
- Author has been the recipient of National Award, Vidyasagar Award

About the Book

FIRESONGS is the unputdownable story of a lionheart from Central Asia called Zura. The young hunter lives in the Edenic, pre-Lapsarian, mythical village of Min-Arkhar, cut off from the illusions and trappings of a modern life. This is a tale of how Zura, on a quest for the ideal, leaves behind the unnavigable Pamir region and unearths the wonders of a “brave new world”. He goes to a big city, hears of the Soviet Army, and meets people who acquaint him with ideas of socialism and justice. Dinesh Chandra Chattopadhyay weaves into the fairytale-like fabric of this bildungsroman the real spirit of the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

About the Author

Dinesh Chandra Chattopadhyay (27.01.1917–10.02.1995) can be best described as a fighter and that spirit found reflection in his works as well. He was a part of the Indian independence movement in his youth, following which he studied the sciences, and also started his professional journey as a publisher. As a litterateur he gained recognition in 1962. His longstanding dream of publishing good literature turned into a reality in the late '60s. The Kisbore Bharati magazine was published for the first time in 1968, with him as the editor. He received the National Award in 1962 for Bhayankorer Jibon Kotha and the Vidyasagar Award in 1987, two of the most prestigious awards in India. Besides Duronto Eegawl (1981), Chattopadhyay is also remembered today for other important works like Oder Bnachte Dao (2015), Bigyan'er Dubswapno (1962), Neel Ghurni (1962), Pratham Purush (2000), and Bhaba Samagra (2002).

About the Translator

Somrita Urni Ganguly is a professor, poet, and literary translator. She was selected by the Writers' Centre Norwich as an emerging translator in 2016. She has been invited as translator-in-residence at Cove Park, Scotland, in October 2017, and in December 2017 she was invited as poet-in-residence at Arcs of a Circle, Mumbai, an artistes' residency organised by the US Consulate in Bombay.

Colours of Kanchenjunga

Translated & Edited by: Sharda Chhetri

- Never-published-before translation of eclectic Nepali Short Stories
- “Gripping and brilliant! A faithful and honest work of translation closest to the original! Sharda’s extraordinary endeavour will surely help non-Nepali readers savour the immortal works of Nepali literary gems.” – The Times of India
- Foreword written by prominent Nepali litterateur Manprasad Subba
- Features classical Nepali writers like Rupnarayan Sinha, Indra Bahadur Rai, Agam Singh Giri, Jagat Chhetri and Shiva Kumar Rai among others
- Sharda Chhetri is an experienced journalist who has worked for various national and international media houses.

About the Book

Colours of Kanchenjunga an eclectic mix of Nepali short stories. Of various themes, narrative modes and styles, this anthology has a scope to reach to different kinds of readers. Most of the stories in this anthology are from the early decades after Independence, a time where the fragrance of freedom still labored under the shadow of colonial rule. Life was difficult, but the Indian Nepali community with their inimitable gift of seeing something glorious, beautiful or downright comic even in the worst of situations, was stoic and jovial by temperament. Their partiality towards alcohol and in taking life ‘as it comes’ sees them through economic hardships, political upheavals, superstitions even as Darjeeling is caught between progress and regress, hope and despair.

About the editor:

Sharda Chhetri began her writing career as a journalist with the Asian Age newspaper, New Delhi, where she worked for over a decade. Thereafter, she has freelanced and contributed to various national and international journals and magazines, including Mediawatch Global, Himal Southasian, Outlook Traveller, Eastern Panaroma etc. Her paper ‘Trafficking of Nepali Women in India’ has been including in the book, Indian Nepalis: Issues and Perspectives, a compendium of issues concerning the Indian Nepalis. Her area of research interest include media and gender, environment and psychology. Her paper ‘Media as a tool for Gender sensitization: Does it walk the talk?’ has been included in the book Social Security for Women, published by the Association of Indian Universities. Currently, she is pursuing her doctoral thesis in gender discourse in the media. She lives in Darjeeling and elsewhere with her husband and two children. Colours of Kanchenjunga is her first book of translation work.

Ramayana

FOOTPRINTS IN SOUTH-EAST ASIAN CULTURE AND HERITAGE
Thailand Indonesia Malaysia Philippines Laos Cambodia Myanmar

Author: Anita Bose

Selling Points:

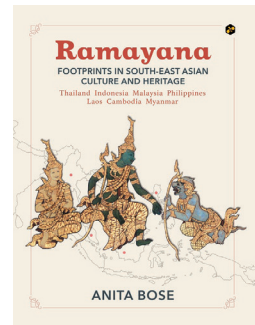

- The book, the first of its kind, precisely chronicles the influence of our epic, Ramayana, on the culture and heritage of South-East Asian countries.
- This book upholds the stimulating study of Ramayana in countries such as Philippines, Myanmar, Laos, Cambodia & others, that is yet unknown to us.
- The book is being published in both English and Bengali and will be available to readers of both the languages.
- It is very relevant for people doing research work on this particular subject.
- The author, Anita Bose, is an independent researcher and is engaged in spreading the culture and heritage of South-East Asia to the people across the world as the only Indian guide. She has previously written a book titled, Patachitra of Odisha and Jagannath Culture.

About the Book

The Ramayana is a peerless epic composed by Maharshi Valmiki in the ancient Bharatvarsha. Prof. Sylvain Levi, the great French orientalist, once said “India gave mythology to her neighbors”. Ramayana serves as the great stimulant to nascent literary worlds of south-east Asian countries and has influenced their culture through drama, puppetry and various performing arts. From paintings to sculptures, from literature to the ethos of royal administration, the impact of Ramayana is prominent all over south-east Asia and this book provides a detailed analysis for the same.

About the Author:

Mrs Anita Bose was born in Kolkata in 1971. Academically she pursued M.A in Bengali Literature from Burdwan University. Further endeavors in Appreciation of Indian Art, Indology and Ramakrishna and Vivekananda Movement were completed from Kavi Kul Guru Kalidas University, Nagpur and Golpark Ramakrishna Mission Institute of Culture respectively. She enriched her repertoire by completing a very special course in Guiding from Bangkok National Museum, Bangkok. For the last 5 years, she has been spreading the culture and heritage of South-East Asia to the people of many countries across the world as the only Indian guide. Her first book, Patachitra of Odisha and Jagannath Culture, published in 2018, is considered as a prominent effort in the history of Indian traditional art. She has continued her efforts in further research.

Thamma's Recipes

Author: Ratna Roy

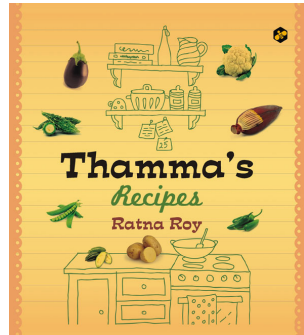

- The book dishes out pure vegetarian Bengali recipes straight from our grandmother's kitchen.
- It comprises of Bengali delicacies ranging from snacks to main course to desserts.
- The book also supplies a list of home-made spices.

About the Book

Thamma's Recipes brings forward a platter of pure vegetarian Bengali dishes straight from our grandmother's kitchen. This book not only includes recipes and how to eat them Bengali style but also a list of home-made spices that render the Bengali food their essence. Thamma lists out the best of Bengali cuisine from snacks to main course to desserts and she hopes all her grandchildren love and relish these timeless dishes.

About the Author:

I never thought that I will write a cookery book. While studying for my graduation in Scottish Church College I had thought of becoming a lecturer or scholar after completing masters, but fate took a different turn and I got married in a conservative joint family and my dreams took a backseat. I wasn't a good cook before my marriage. I knew how to make sweets, which I learned from my mother. I owe all my culinary skills to my mother-in-law who would do all the household cooking. We often had guests visiting us at my in-laws, and the responsibility of the kitchen fell on my mother-in-law, with me as her assistant. Few years later when I shifted to Delhi with my husband and son, I was surprised to find that our friends from different communities there liked Bengali cuisine, especially vegetarian dishes and Bengali sweets. They would often request me to write down the recipes for them to try at home, since there wasn't many Bengali restaurants.

Modi: Wheels of Change 3

ASM Shamsul Arefin

- The first part was acknowledged by Hon. Prime Minister of India, Mr. Narendra Modi and now we have come up with the third part.
- Complete documentation of Mr Modi's work and initiatives that helped him maintain his stature as the Prime Minister of India for the second consecutive term.
- Documented by Mr Shamsul Arefin based in Bangladesh who is an ex-major and freedom fighter.

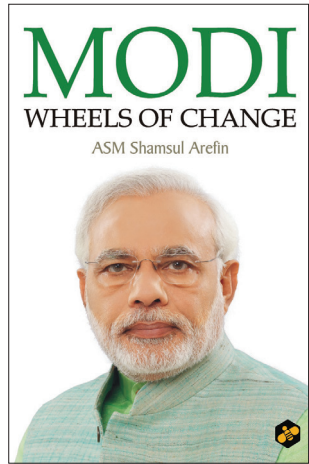

About the Book

The Indian Parliamentary system has proven to be a sustainable practicing democracy. Both the state and the central governments are changed and formed by the people as they desire. Of all the countries that have emerged from colonial status in this century, India stands out as not only the largest but the most triumphant example of democracy.

Post the election of 2019 Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has formed a single-party majority government in the Indian Parliament for the 2nd term, under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Out of 543 Constituencies, BJP singularly bagged 303 seats. The Modi wave swept the country. MODI Wheels of Change Part 3, is a continuation of the previous parts and is mainly a compilation on the subject related to Modi's electoral commitment, day to day work and governance of BJP from 2017 to date. The documents are the chronicle of events that have contemporary significance and have a present impact on the vital matters of national importance. Modi: Wheels of Change Part 3 is mainly compiled for researchers, scholars, historians, and students

A Brief History from Creation of Universe to Evolution of Human Being

Dilip Datta

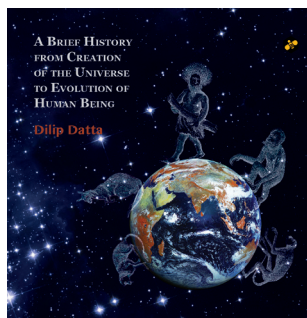

- Concise history of universe from its creation to evolution of human being.
- An informative book supported with pictures and charts

About the Book

Life appeared on the Earth about 3.6 billion years ago. But how? Why was there quietude in the surroundings just before life appears on the Earth? How did environment change during the initial period after creation of Universe and Earth? How does a complete tree diagram of two great eons look like? How did climate change in each era and period? What were the consequential impacts? What were the occurrence of important events that helped transformation of the Earth? Who is our real ancestor? Had there been no extinction of dinosaurs, would the dominant life forms on Earth today possible? Can the very existence of human beings be traced to the death of a distant Sun? Eloquently written, this book with diagrams, illustrations, pictures and figures, has answered all these questions.

Agnyatha: The Memoir of Tipu's Unknown Commander

Author: Krishnamurthy Hanuru

Translator: L. S. Shankar Swamy

- Translation of bestselling contemporary Kannada book
- Winner of Karnataka Sahitya Academy Award
- Endorsed by Girish Karnad and U. R. Ananthamurthy

About the Book

“There is nothing like this novel in Kannada literature. Starting as a chronicle of a soldier’s life in the times of Tipu Sultan, the narrative moves with astonishing vitality across time and space. Its supple structure, its shifting locations and perspectives, the freedom with which the narrative roams over different and seemingly irreconcilable genres—such as myth, history and folklore—create a world which is at once mesmerizing, baffling and yet deeply ‘real’. Hanuru’s scholarship and imagination enable him to place each episode in a precise time and place. Yet these worlds, which seem so apart and autonomous, morph into each other and open up a vast canvas, rich and vibrant, leavened by the writer’s sensitivity to human foibles.”

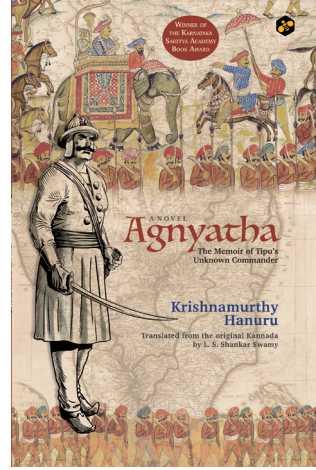

—Girish Karnad

About the Author

Krishnamurthy Hanuru is a leading Kannada folklorist and a fiction writer. He has published three novels, four short story collections and many editions of folk songs and stories. Hanuru’s second novel Nikshepa (The Treasure) was adapted to celluloid and many of his stories have been serialized. Some of his most noted works are The Encyclopaedia of Folk Culture in Karnataka, Savirada Siri Belagu (Let thousand Kinds of Wealth Shine), Janapada Ramya Kathanakagalu (The Folk Romances).

About the Translator

L. S. Shankar Swamy is a former professor of English. He has taught at several government colleges in Karnataka and has a teaching experience of over four decades. His translation of Dr Hanuru’s short story “Munjane Sikkida Siri” as Siri Found at Dawn was published in Central Sahitya Academy journal in the year 2000.

Bloody Scotland

Contributors:

Lin Anderson, Chris Brookmyre, Gordon Brown, Ann Cleeves, Doug Johnstone, Stuart MacBride, Val McDermid, Denise Mina, Craig Robertson, Sara Sheridan, E S Thomson, Louise Welsh

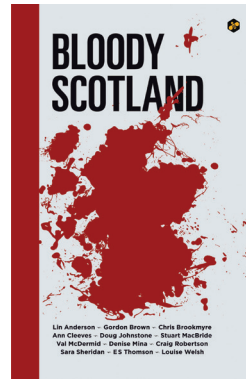

- Features the best of Scottish crime writing, including Denise Mina, the 2017 winner of the McIlvanney Prize for Scottish Crime Book of the Year, and the 2016 winner, Chris Brookmyre. Shortlisted authors Val McDermid, Doug Johnstone, Craig Robertson and E S Thomson have also contributed stories.
- Produced in partnership with Bloody Scotland, Scotland's International Crime Writing Festival.
- A unique collaboration which brings together two of Scotland's greatest assets – its built heritage and its crime writing – for the first time.
- Supported by a high-profile media campaign.

About the Book

In Bloody Scotland twelve of Scotland's best crime writers use the sinister side of the country's built heritage in stories that are by turns gripping, chilling and redemptive.

Stellar contributors Val McDermid, Chris Brookmyre, Denise Mina, Ann Cleeves, Louise Welsh, Lin Anderson, Gordon Brown, Doug Johnstone, Craig Robertson, E S Thomson, Sara Sheridan and Stuart MacBride explore the thrilling potential of Scotland's iconic sites and structures. From murder in an Iron Age broch and a macabre tale of revenge among the furious clamour of an eighteenth century mill, to a dark psychological thriller set within the tourist throng of Edinburgh Castle and a rivalry turning fatal in the concrete galleries of an abandoned modernist ruin, this collection uncovers the intimate – and deadly – connections between people and places.

Prepare for a dangerous journey into the dark shadows of our nation's buildings – where passion, fury, desire and death collide.

The Accident on the A35

Graeme Macrae Burnet

- Graeme Macrae Burnet has won the Sunday Herald Culture Award 2017.
- Graeme was a finalist of Man Booker Prize Award 2016.
- Burnet is a famous author with a huge following since the runaway international success of His Bloody Project.
- The Accident on the A35 is linked to his popular and well-received first novel, The Disappearance of Adèle Bedeau.

About the Book

There does not appear to be anything remarkable about the fatal car crash on the A35. But one question dogs Inspector Georges Gorski: where has the victim, an outwardly austere lawyer, been on the night of his death?

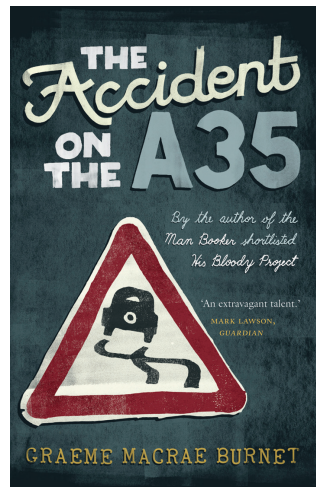

The troubled Gorski finds himself drawn into a mystery that takes him behind the respectable veneer of the sleepy French backwater of Saint-Louis.

Graeme Macrae Burnet returns with a literary mystery that will beguile fans of His Bloody Project and The Disappearance of Adèle Bedeau. Darkly humorous, subtle and sophisticated, The Accident on the A35 burrows deep into the psyches of its characters and explores the forgotten corners of small-town life.

About the Author

Graeme Macrae Burnet is one of Scotland's brightest literary talents. Stints living abroad – including in France – helped him to accurately nail the nuances of small-town French culture in Adèle Bedeau. Currently working on a new novel set in 1870s Wester Ross, and developing two more books featuring Georges Gorski, Graeme is one to watch as a writing star of the future.

Pupils' President: APJ Abdul Kalam

Edited by Satyam Roychowdhury

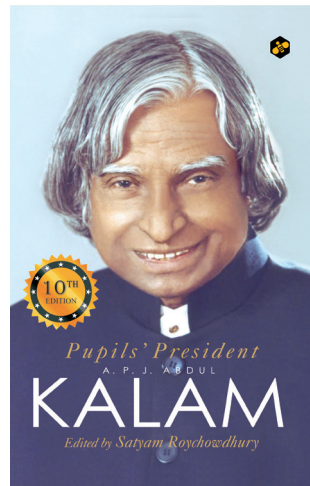

- Over 9,000 copies sold.
- 5th September 2015. Launch of the book at Oxford Bookstore.
- Former Indian Captain Mr. Sourav Ganguly was the chief guest.
- Covers all eight books by President Kalam published previously.
- First book to honour him after he passed away.
- Pre-order of more than 1,000 copies.

About the Book

The students' diligent teacher, the nation's gifted scientist, the humble 'People's President'-an indefinable name he is. Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam. A man who dedicated his life and work to the betterment of a nation and his time and energy to the billions of young minds he wished to ignite. He has left back dreams in everyone, and the undying inspiration to make those dreams come true. A surfeit of contents has been interwoven to give this book a shape. To read through the pages will mean a journey through his life in entirety. Besides Kalam's own speeches and quotes, it also contains literary tributes by scientists, academicians and students, the interviews of his family members, and a real-time anecdote of his interment ceremony at Rameswaram. This isn't just a tribute, but a world beyond it to be read, explored and discovered.

About the Author

Satyam Roychowdhury is a man of assorted interests. He is the co-founder and currently the Managing Director of Techno India Group, the largest educational conglomerate in Eastern India. He is a prominent member and an active participant of the Art and Cultural milieu of Bengal. He has contributed to the society in multifaceted ways with his unstinted support and persistent patronage. He is one of the top educationists of the country, but he is a voracious reader by passion and a writer by ardour. He has an unquenchable thirst for knowledge, and he draws inspiration from great minds by imbibing their philosophies.

About the Book

BEE Books has published the most crucial biography of Sister Nivedita (born Margaret Elizabeth Noble) by Lizelle Reymond. Being published for the first time in the country since it was written decades ago, with a newly written foreword by the eminent author Sanjib Chattopadhyay, this book offers a new astounding perspective to the enigmatic woman that was Sister Nivedita. Written with undaunted honesty, it enlightens the readers of the odyssey of a woman from her journey from childhood into the final doorsteps of sainthood. Her gifts towards this country still resonates in the legacies she has left behind, and in this book, the reader shall perceive the magnanimity that was tantamount to the one called Nivedita.

About the Author

Lizelle Reymond, born on 30 June 1899, in the canton of Neuchâtel and died on 22 June 1994 in Geneva. She was a philosopher and orientalist who contributed to the introduction of Tai Chi Chuan in Europe as early as the 1970s. In 1947, after her marriage failed, Lizelle Reymond came to India where she worked for the Ramakrishna Mission, which helped the Hindu refugees flock to Calcutta following the partition of the country.

The Way of Love: Saint Teresa of Calcutta

Satyam Roychowdhury

Satyam Roychowdhury narrates the influence Mother Teresa has had in his life. Right from his childhood, to when he began his career and how he traveled halfway across the world to attend the ceremony which granted her Sainthood.

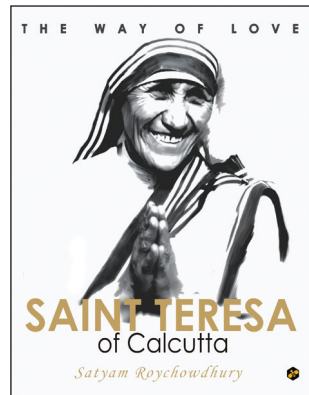

About the Book

Love personified and an oasis to the poorest of the poor in the desert sands of neglect and hatred, the nun in the blue-bordered white saree truly transcends all things earthly. Mother Teresa—the Albanian girl who left her home in Skopje in Yugoslavia at eighteen, travelled to Calcutta by sea, and selflessly dedicated her life to serve humanity in order to serve her Lord. It's been nineteen years since she went to Him, but her immortal spirit keeps kindling the light of love in the hearts of millions around the world.

A surfeit of contents has been interwoven to give 'The Way of Love' a shape. To read through the pages will mean a journey through her life in entirety – from Agnes Gonxha Bojaxhiu to being the Saint Teresa of Kolkata. The book contains tributes by eminent personalities who worked with Mother Teresa, and is also suitably illustrated with photographs and paintings.

About the Author

Satyam Roychowdhury is a man of assorted interests. He is the co-founder and currently the Managing Director of Techno India Group, the largest educational conglomerate in Eastern India. He is a prominent member and an active participant of the Art and Cultural milieu of Bengal. He has contributed to the society in multifaceted ways with his unstinted support and persistent patronage. He is one of the top educationists of the country, but he is a voracious reader by passion and a writer by ardour. He has an unquenchable thirst for knowledge, and he draws inspiration from great minds by imbibing their philosophies.

Coke

Barun Chanda

- Barun Chanda is a reputed actor of both Tollywood and Bollywood through films like Looter and Roy.
- He was one of the favourite actors of Satyajit Ray.
- The book was covered and reviewed by all leading newspapers.
- Pre-order of 500 copies before launch.

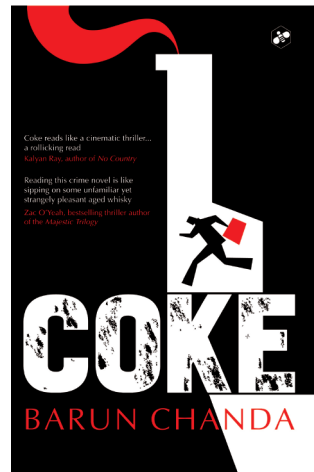

About the Book

“Can you help me, please?” Pradipta wheeled around. Standing behind was an unusually attractive lady. She wore a dark blue, chiffon saree which set off her fair complexion even more. Other than a thin gold chain with a tear-drop pearl pendant on her neck, she wore no jewelery. Her lips were pale pink, with no lipstick. Only the dark make-up on her eyes made her look even more unfathomable. “You’re talking to me?” Thus begins Coke, with this chance encounter at Kathmandu airport. But the plot thickens when the lady requests him to include her suitcase as part of his checked in baggage and then does a vanishing act, once the aircraft lands in Calcutta. What follows is a riveting page-turner, replete with unexpected twists as you encounter gangs warring over narcotics, policemen, functionaries, and a sinister master-mind who will stop at nothing to get what he wants.

About the Author

Barun Chanda is an advertising guru, actor and writer. Following a brief stint as a lecturer in English, he embarked upon a career in the creative department of advertising that spanned more than 30 years, won him numerous awards and culminated in his tenure as Creative Director at Clarion McCann. Acting occupies the second of his three worlds. In 1971, he scorched the big screen as a protagonist in Satyajit Ray’s ‘Seemabaddha’, and winning a special President of India Award for his performance. A regular film reviewer and contributor of articles to major dailies, his work has played a major role in establishing the adult thriller genre in Bengali literature. Coke is his first novel in English.

“Reading this crime novel is like sipping on some unfamiliar yet strangely pleasant aged whiskey.” – Zac O’Yeah.

Tales to Tell

Kolkata Bloggers

- Tales to Tell is an unique initiative where new authors and illustrators get to submit their creativity online and the winners get published into a book; it started in 2015.
- The stories and illustrations are selected by well known panel of judges.
- 250 books sold on the day of launch
- 20 new authors & 20 new illustrators.
- Extensive coverage by the print & electronic media.

About the Book

While one story glorifies the bravery of men we tend to ignore, the other speaks of our dreams and fear of demons and death. A funny tale of a lost professor, an emotional tale of bonding with grandparents, a tale of revenge for a death, a story of a paper and pen, “Tales to Tell” celebrates life as we know it in just 500 words. In today’s world when we are slowly and steadily moving towards everything short and crisp, Kolkata Bloggers and BEE Books joined hands to launch a book of short stories with illustrations. 20 storytellers and 20 illustrators have come together for the first time to bring a collection of short stories.

- The stories and illustrations are selected by well-known panel of judges.
- The success of Tales To Tell was so tremendous that Tales To Tell: Romance was quickly started and a year later, this is the next book in the series.

About the Book

While one story explores the love between an elderly couple, the other talks about how obsessive love can get. From a mother-child relationship, to falling in love after years, from separation to reunions, Tales to Tell: Romance speaks from the heart of not humans alone. It brings together ideas of romance from different perspectives, all bound by the common strand of love. 25 authors and 25 illustrators come together to explore #IdeaofRomance and challenge the cliché in just 1200 words. Hope you enjoy reading the book as much as we did compiling them!

Little Longer Than Forever

Aryani Banerjee

“A strikingly spontaneous tender love story, Little Longer Than Forever will keep you hooked with its rich canvas of emotions and flashes of brilliant prose. The true-to-life fascinating characters and the captivating story will tug at your heartstrings. Aryani Banerjee’s novel skillfully captures the sights, sounds and smells of Delhi and Kolkata.”
- Oswal Pereira, Best selling author of The Newsroom Mafia and Chaddi Buddies.

About the Book

Bob meets Olive at work, and they instantly connect. Within both of them dwell the unhealed scars of their broken pasts. While they find an escape route in each other, they begin to realise that people aren’t just made up of heart and mind, but stories too. Together, they discover the stories they have lived and survived, and prepare themselves to give love a second chance. How far can love travel for two people to be together? Sometimes, the answer exists just in courage.

About the Author

For Aryani Banerjee born in September 1986, in erstwhile Calcutta, writing poems and stories is an innate hobby. She completed her schooling from St. Paul’s Boarding & Day School and then her graduation from St. Xavier’s College, Kolkata. She wrote for newspapers and magazines and anchored for youth programmes on satellite channels for a while, before pursuing a Post-Graduate Diploma from Times School of Journalism, New Delhi. It was during this time that her sincere journey with words began. Juggling between her job in the television media and her hobby as a travel columnist, she decided to pen down books. She has also edited and written chapters of a couple of political biographies that went on to become bestsellers.

Black Waters Jail

Author: Prafulla Roy

Translated by: John W. Hood

About the Book

Set in the pre-independence period, with the Black Waters Jail of Andaman as the backdrop, the story narrates the journey of Lakhai, a person involved in many heinous crimes. The story revolves around his sufferings, pain, loss, fear on one hand, and on the other it delves deep into his extreme love for Sonia and his attachment with his jail mates. They are all inhabitants of a settlement that is peopled by criminals from the jail who have completed their term. Gradually, the rule is bent a little so that such people can find partners. Women inmates are pardoned off before their term if they are willing to settle down with men from the settlement. However, if they fall out, they will have to return to the jail. Can family life ever cure the criminal instincts of such men and women?

Another Outsider

Author: Samaresh Majumdar

Translated by: Manojit Mitra

About the Book

Shahin is one of those many boys from rural Bangladesh who make up for the thousands of illegal emigrants of the US. He travels to the US with a theatre company to perform for Bengali associations in several cities. Finally, instead of returning with his team, he stays back, literally dissolving in the multitude of those who seek their fortune in the US while all the time running from the police. Like most such boys, Shahin joins a restaurant that employs illegal migrants because they come cheap. His only aim is to save enough money so that he can send money back home to his aged parents, who dream of repairing their doddering house. Playing hide and seek with the police, Shahin soon finds himself working for a transport company, but again gets too close to the police. Finally, luck favours him and Shahin gets a green card that enables him to visit home. But things are not the same anymore. He is now just another outsider.

What happens when you fall in love with the wrong person?

The consequences threaten to be far-reaching and potentially deadly. Bone Deep is a contemporary novel of sibling rivalry, love, betrayal and murder. It is a dual narrative, told in alternative chapters by Mac, a woman bent on keeping the secrets of the past from her only son, and the enigmatic Lucie, whose own past is something of a closed book. Their story is underpinned by the creaking presence of an abandoned water mill, and haunted by the local legend of two long-dead sisters, themselves rivals in love, and ready to point an accusing finger from the pages of history.

About the Author

Sandra Ireland was born in Yorkshire, lived for many years in Limerick, and is now based in Edinburgh. She began her writing career as a correspondent on a local newspaper but quickly realised that fiction is much more intriguing than fact. In 2013 Sandra was awarded a Carnegie-Cameron scholarship to study for an MLitt in Writing Practice and Study at the University of Dundee, graduating with a distinction in 2014. Her work has appeared in various publications and women's magazines. Her debut novel was Beneath the Skin (Polygon, 2016).

Renegade Wales: Thirteen Stories from the Revolutionary New Voices in Welsh literature

Edited by Gary Raymond

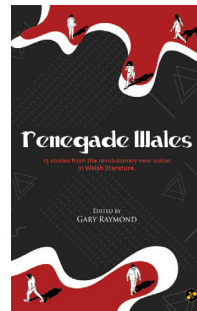

- The stories in this collection are funny, poignant, thrilling and in some ways deeply political—throwing light on the profoundness of human experiences and emotions.
- The book showcases the best array of contemporary Welsh short stories.
- Features some of the best Welsh writing—Alys Conran, 2017 winner of the Wales Book of the Year Award, Cynan Jones, 2017 winner of BBC National Short Story Award, Rachel Trezise, winner of EDS Dylan Thomas Prize, Fflur Dafydd, 2016 winner of BAFTA Cymru Award, Mark Blayney, winner of the Somerset Maugham Prize, Rebecca F. John, 2015 winner of the PEN International New Voices Award, Niall Griffiths, winner of Welsh Book of the Year Award and other illustrious writers.
- The book has been edited by Gary Raymond, a novelist, critic, editor and a broadcaster. His novel The Golden Orphans featured as best new crime novel in The Spectator and was previewer's pick of the month in The Bookseller.

About the Book

A manic preacher, a sex-crazed teenager, and a suspected witch are just three of the unforgettable characters that walk the land of these short stories from a new generation of Welsh writers. The stories in this collection are funny, poignant, thrilling, and are, in one way or another, deeply political. They are stories of hope, even when they are stories of anger, and they draw upon ancient myth, old tropes, and reliable structures to explore ideas that are bitingly relevant not just to the world we live in now, but to the world we hope to win back from dark powers.

About the Editor

Gary Raymond is a novelist, critic, editor and broadcaster. He is one of the founding editors of Wales Arts Review, and has been editor since 2014. He is the author of two novels, The Golden Orphans (Parthian, 2018) and For Those Who Come After (Parthian, 2015). He is the presenter of BBC Radio Wales' The Review Show. His second novel was picked as best new crime novel in The Spectator and was previewer's pick of the month in The Bookseller. It remained on the WH Smith fiction chart for 6 weeks.

The Disappearance of Adèle Bedeau

Graeme Macrae Burnet

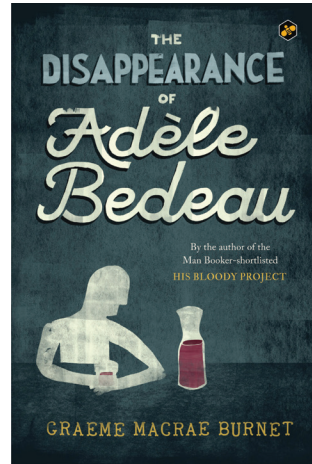

- Graeme Macrae Burnet has won the Sunday Herald Culture Award 2017 and was a finalist of Man Booker Prize Award 2016.
- Burnet is a famous author with a huge following since the runaway international success of His Bloody Project.
- The Disappearance of Adèle Bedeau is a captivating psychological thriller.
- The novel holds the readers' attention till the last page.
- The author released a linked second novel in October 2017: The Accident on the A35.

About the Book

Manfred Baumann is a loner. Socially awkward and perpetually ill at ease, he spends his evenings surreptitiously observing Adèle Bedeau, the sullen but alluring waitress at his local bistro. But one day, she vanishes into thin air. When Detective Georges Gorski begins investigating her disappearance, Manfred's repressed world is shaken to its core and he is forced to confront the dark secrets of his past. The Disappearance of Adèle Bedeau effortlessly conjures up an otherworldly atmosphere that simultaneously intrigues and unsettles. A compelling psychological portrayal of a peculiar outsider pushed to the limit by his own feverish imagination, it is by turns haunting, strange and mesmeric—a literary mystery novel destined to achieve cult status.

About the Author

Graeme Macrae Burnet is one of Scotland's brightest literary talents. Stints living abroad—including in France—helped him to accurately nail the nuances of small-town French culture in Adèle Bedeau. Currently working on a new novel set in 1870s Wester Ross, and developing two more books featuring Georges Gorski, Graeme is one to watch as a writing star of the future.

God on Every Wind

Farhad Sorabjee

- “A remarkably assured debut.” – Verve
- Short-listed for the Commonwealth First Novel Award.
- Farhad’s plays have been developed as part of the Royal Court International Programme and at Soho Theatre, London.
- Based on the Parsi community which is presently dying.
- First joint production of BEE Books and the Parthian.
- Received an overwhelming response in United Kingdom.

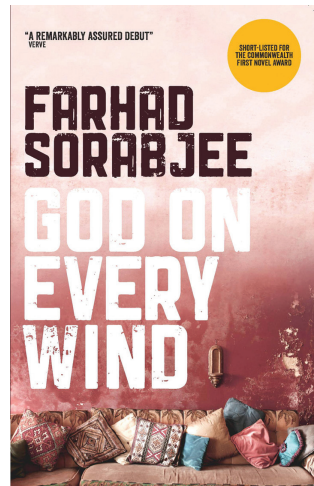

About the Book

Philomena is a born rebel, disillusioned with her middle-class comfort and the expectations of her parents. Nestor is an impoverished African exile with the heart of a poet. When the two meet by chance on the streets of 1960s’ Bombay, their attraction will change their lives forever. Spanning two continents and following a story of love, loss and politics set against a backdrop of turbulent societies, times and allegiances, God on Every Wind is a powerful debut novel exploring the possibilities and limitations of individual and political revolution. Will appeal to readers with special interests in the best of contemporary world literature, with strong crossover potential for readers who have enjoyed the work of recent success stories from the sub-continent, such as Mohsin Hamid’s Moth Smoke.

About the Author

Farhad Sorabjee is based in Mumbai, India. He is a playwright with a rising profile in the UK. Productions of his work have been read at the Royal Court and Soho Theatres. His latest play Hard Places will be produced in the UK in 2012.

The Normal State of Mind

Susmita Bhattacharya

- Susmita was awarded a Literature Wales bursary for the completion of this novel and was highly commended in the 2014 Frome Festival Short Story Competition.
- ‘...a warm tale of love and friendship.’ Farhana Shaikh, The Asian Writer.

About the Book

‘The law seems to be very interested in widows and lesbians. Both are hanging on to the edges of society, begging to be recognised.’

It’s the end of a millennium. India has made tremendous progress in science and technology, but in these times of economic boom can a friendship between two women give them the power to defy society, and law, to reach for their dreams?

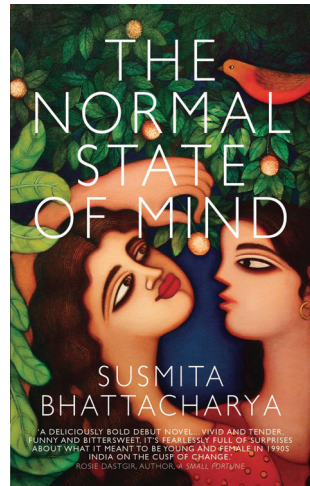

Dipali, a young bride, is determined to make her marriage a success story. But her plans are cut short when her husband is killed by a bomb blast in Mumbai. Forced into a life of widowhood, her brother expects her to sacrifice her own independence for the sake of caring for her elderly mother but Dipali has other ideas.

Moushumi, a school teacher, discovers that her attraction to women is not just a girl crush. As her parents discuss potential husbands, Moushumi escapes to her high-flying lover. But how long can she keep being a lesbian secret beyond the safe walls of glamorous art crowd parties?

In the midst of communal riots and gay rights movements, India too has to make her own decisions about which traditions she must keep, and which she ought to let go. At the end of it all, who can decide what is the normal state of mind?

About the Author

Susmita Bhattacharya is from Mumbai, India. The Normal State of Mind is her debut novel. She lives in Plymouth with her husband, two daughters and the neighbour’s cat.

Clown's Shoes

Rebecca F. John

- ‘The Dog Track’ was broadcast on Radio 4 in 2013 and 2014 <http://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/b02119cs>.
- In 2014, she was highly commended in the Manchester Fiction Prize.
- Shortlisted for the Sunday Times EFG Short Story Award.

About the Book

Onstage again, you stare down at your feet, imagining you see the bright, painted curves of a pair of clown’s shoes... It helps to pretend you are a clown, hidden inside baggy trousers, your true face invisible behind splashes of red lipstick and pale powder...

A dazzling debut collection from a young talent, these critically acclaimed stories dip into the shadows and spotlights of life. From the pale waking hours to the darkling places, Clown's Shoes introduces us to a cast of lost characters trying to find their way, and asking whether everyone really does come salting home in the end?

Since the Devil visited the glove maker, she has found herself in the asylum counting out days instead of stitches. At the dog track, hidden amongst the rowdy punters, a woman bets on underdogs, life and love. In a small Welsh town, a young Korean immigrant tells her secrets to the sway of the sea and, as day breaks over the estuary, a woman watches the cockle pickers’ clumsy dance routine, over a decade since her daughter disappeared.

Yearning for fame, an inexperienced magician dices with death. In the Warsaw Ghetto, two sisters bargain for their lives. In sad, wet London, a neglected girl prostitutes herself to feed her family whilst onstage, somewhere ago, a desperate mother performs a nightly striptease.

The people who populate Clown's Shoes are lonely, they are frightened, and most of all they are full of hope.

About the Author

Rebecca F. John was born in 1986 and grew up on the South Wales coast. She holds a BA in English and an MA in Creative Writing from Swansea University. She has been published in Parthian’s Nx: Fiction & Stuff, and the Terry Hetherington Award anthologies Cheval 4 and 5.

Goldfish Memory

Monique Schwitter

- The winner of the prestigious Robert Walser First Novel Award.
- The winner of Switzerland's Schiller Foundation Writers Prize.
- Work of translation.
- Eluned Gramich the translator who was shortlisted for the Bristol Short Story Prize in 2011.

About the Book

What does it mean to have a connection with someone?

Everyday you see tens and hundreds of faces and overhear countless conversations. Everyday you pass people by – on the street. In the office. In the car. In cafes and bars. Down the corridors of department stores and hotel rooms. But what makes one person a stranger, and another a friend, an accomplice, even a lover?

This is the question these brilliant and quirky short stories try to answer.

A traveler shuts himself up in his hotel room, with no-one but room service to talk to; a teenager stalks her long-lost father; a journalist interviews a great poet with a dark past; a woman pursues a doomed liaison with an anonymous man she meets once a month at the casino; a bar lady locked in with the regulars at night... These are just some of the tales exploring the mysterious and random side of human relationships.

About the Author

Monique Schwitter is the author of several collections of short stories and was awarded the Robert Walser Prize for the best literary debut in 2006.

Best of Mamata

Mamata Banerjee

- Written by Hon. Chief Minister of Kolkata Smt. Mamata Banerjee.
- Inaugurated at the International Kolkata Book Fair.
- Traces her struggle and hardships in politics as a woman before she became the Chief Minister.
- Rare archived pictures adorn the book.

About the Book

She gave and only gave all her life. She expected nothing in return apart from the unending love from the people. She started her journey and struggle at an early age. She rose from the tin ceilings to become an icon. She fights against corruption, against injustice and violence. She raises her voice to point out the mis doings of the who's who in politics. She never falters to bring the truth forward and reveal the fake tears of the politicians and the dark face of politics. She has opposed forged leftist movements and fundamentalists as well. She staunchly supports secularism and democratism. She is none other than our very own and beloved Mamata Banerjee. After decades of struggle against the oppressors and tyranny, she brought in change in West Bengal with a vision to remove all malpractices and spread love and harmony among people. While she fights for the development of her state, she also writes. She writes to influence her people and encourages them to read. A multi-talented and multi faceted author and poet she writes her real Life, personal experience, essays and poetry.

Story of Rare Diamonds

Presented by the P. C. Chandra Group

About the Book

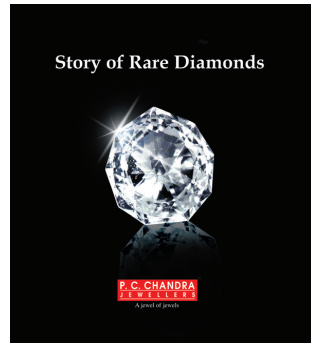

For centuries, diamonds have continued to enamour us. Some consider diamonds as a good luck charm while others think of it as a status symbol. Some again love diamonds as they are excruciatingly beautiful.

Each diamond leaves behind a trail of history lingering behind it. This book aims to shed light on some of the interesting stories that lie behind the discoveries of the world's most renowned diamonds.

The demands of India, Pakistan, and Iran, about the ownership of the Koh-i-noor Diamond, the cursed history of the Hope Diamond, or the romantic memories attached to the Taylor-Burton Diamond — all these, and more will whet the appetite of the readers who are intrigued with diamonds and the ones yet to be.

This book recounts the facts and the stories of all the world renowned diamonds. The facts describe what their weight is, how they were discovered, where they were mined, who cut them, how many facets they have, where they are currently located, etc. The stories on the other hand talks about how the diamonds changed hands, or the personalities linked with particular diamonds.

On P. C. Chandra's 7th anniversary, Stories of Rare Diamonds is a gift to their readers to enchant them with magical stories of the diamond.

P.C. CHANDRA SWARNAKSHAR: THE GOLDEN ALPHABETS

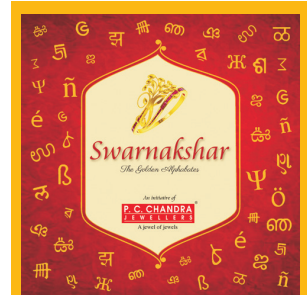

Presented by the P. C. CHANDRA Group

About the Book

P. C. Chandra Swarnakshar brings together a wide array of international and Indian languages. With a small note on the history of the languages introducing each chapter, the book allows for a quick but interesting read.

Through this book we want to spread the knowledge and beauty of some of the most popularly spoken Indian and international languages across the world. Each language is unique in its own way. Each alphabet has an ornamental beauty to it, if looked at with the right eye.

Our idea of the book was to make a bouquet of all languages, especially for the younger readers. Through Swarnakshar, they would discover newer alphabets and languages, which would help them build an interest and expand their knowledge. We felt a compilation such as this, of languages, was important.
